

Political prophecies go for nothing this fall.

Reports say that ex-Senator Sharon is on his death-bed.

Secretary Whitney has accepted the D. Webb on terms that are satisfactory to Mr. Roach.

If the people of New York had voted the way they bet, Davenport would have been elected.

The president gave the independents of New York a black eye that will show its mark for some time.

A Philadelphia grand jury has recommended the passage of a law establishing the whipping-post as a punishment for wife-beaters.

Roscoe Conkling failed to register in New York, and did not vote Tuesday. Ex-President Arthur voted the straight republican ticket.

Tammany hall, Tweed's partner and the administration, are one in spirit and aim. Do the Harper's Weekly and the New York Times understand this fact?

The legislature of New Jersey will have thirty-two republican majority on joint ballot. The New York legislature will have thirty-eight republican majority on joint ballot.

Whenever a man or any set of men undertake to serve two masters, he or they will discover, sooner or later, that any one who attempts it makes a fool of himself.

General Hazen, chief signal officer, intends to introduce a new method of publishing the weather predictions. It is intended to prophesy the weather for the regions respectively about the large cities instead of prognosticating according to certain topographical boundaries.

"There are matings of democratic discontent in Wisconsin. If he wants a solid delegation from that state in 1888 Mr. Vilas will be obliged to let a few oil-skins float around that way." The foregoing quotation is from the Philadelphia Times, a democratic paper. The operations of the postoffice department show that the postmaster general has the clamps on Stevenson's assistant, who has the appointment of all the fourth class postmasters. The democrats of Wisconsin have feared their slubby regards postoffice, partly because there are ten applicants for one office, and again for the reason that to make nine democrats mad to every one office, is not the way to make the state solid for Vilas in 1888.

The Andre monument at Tappan, New York, was blown up by an explosion of dynamite cartridges at 10:20 o'clock on Tuesday night. Both bases were blown into atoms, and the iron fencing that enclosed the monument completely demolished. The shock was so great that it broke the glass in houses a mile away. In a hotel half a mile distant it broke the globes on the lamps, and the West Shore railroad depot was jarred, and several panes of glass broken. Fifteen minutes after the explosion there were 200 persons on the spot. February 22, 1882, the monument was hauled and mutilated by George Hendrix, who died two years ago. April 1 of the same year an attempt was made to destroy it with nitroglycerine. Mr. Cyrus W. Field, who erected the monument to Andre, had it repaired very lately.

Mr. Sparks, commissioner of the general land office, has recently received reports from special agents which convince him that five-sixths of the homestead entries in Dakota and throughout that region are fraudulent. He has received a number of advertisements of land agents who offer to obtain land for ex-Union soldiers and sailors, without the necessity of residing upon the land, which the law requires, and Mr. Sparks has been provided with copies of railroad tickets to certify to those certificates of homestead entries, under the timber culture act, are attached as gratuitous coupons to the purchasers of the railroad tickets. Mr. Sparks says that while in individual instances the result of his action may cause hardship, he shall decline to certify the vast mass of pending applications for patents to the president for signature until he is convinced that the entries are not of a fraudulent character, and that he will ask congress for force enough to make these investigations speedily.

To show how shamefully ridiculous were the mugwumps of New York in trying to support Cleveland's administration and at the same time urge the election of Davenport, the following telegram should be read:

Hon. David B. Hill, Albany, N. Y.—I have just returned from Buffalo and learned the result when nearly home. I heartily congratulate you on your election.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

With marvellous inconsistency, the independents claimed that the election of Davenport would be an endorsement of the administration, and the mugwump papers tried to make the people of New York believe that thing. One would suppose that the mugwumps were a sturdy common sense class of people, and were sharp enough to see the utter folly of trying to support two political parties at the same time; but that supposition is knocked to the wind by the result in New York, and by the congratulatory telegram from the president to Mr. Hill. Thus is a slip in the face that the independents will not relish. The president was for Hill. He was for the democratic party, Tammany was for the democratic party, and as bad as Hill's record is, the president wanted him to succeed. He gave the democratic party of New York, not only the influence of the administration, but money to accomplish the boodle work, and went several hundred miles to vote for Hill himself. How then, could the mugwumps, consistently contend that the election of Hill would be a slip in the face of President Cleveland? It would seem that the part the administration took in the election in New York, and especially the conduct of the president in contributing money for Hill's election, and his telegram of congratulations, that the mugwumps would get their eyes opened and see the ridiculousness of their position.

CONCLUSIONS DRAWN

FROM THE RESULT OF THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

Democrats Agree That It Is a General Indorsement of President and Party—Comment on the "Mugwumps"—Later Returns from Several States.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 4.—Wednesday was a day of rejoicing in Washington among Democrats of all shades of opinion, from the earnest, steadfast supporters of the Cleveland administration to the Democrats who believe that "the victor belongs the spoils." The friends of the administration insist that the victory in New York is a splendid indorsement of President Cleveland's policy. Judge McGowan of Brooklyn, solicitor of the treasury, who returned to Washington much elated over the victory in New York, reflected the feelings of the administration men when he remarked, "We owe it to President Cleveland. It was because the people had confidence in him that they voted for Hill. They knew the president would not have supported Hill if he had not wanted him elected. They knew he was in earnest about it. He demonstrated it by going several hundred miles to vote for Hill. This victory is an indorsement of the administration."

Second Controller Maynard, who returned from New York, Wednesday morning, thinks it a mistake to call the result in New York a "straight Democratic victory," inasmuch as New York is such a close state that there can not be a straight victory for either party. There is, he thinks, an independent vote of about 75,000, composed of both parties, which can decide the result. While the so-called mugwump papers opposed Hill the majority of the independents and Republicans who voted for Cleveland last fall supported him Tuesday, and besides the Democrats got the support of the labor vote.

Congressman Frank Hurd says the result in New York is a splendid victory, but declines to express an opinion as to whether or not it is an indorsement of the administration. Assistant Secretary Fairbank regards it as an indorsement of the administration. The president, Secretary Manning, Secretary Whitney, and Governor Hill, he says, were in perfect accord as to the president's policy concerning appointments in New York, and any attempt to use the victory as an indorsement of any other policy, and to make the president act differently with regard to appointments in the future, he thinks will fail.

Republicans here, while surprised and regretting the defeat in New York, do not feel discouraged over it.

Influence of the "Mugwumps." New York, Nov. 5.—The Sun says: For twelve months the leaders of the alleged mugwump party in New York have swarmed around, pretending that they were power in politics. Last November, the closeness of the presidential vote in New York left the mugwumps in a position to claim that their votes had elected Cleveland. The mugwumps have survived for a single year. The figures of Tuesday's election knock it all to pieces. The figures of Tuesday indicate that they carry a positive loss to the party to which they transfer their support.

Boston, Nov. 5.—The Globe (Dem.) declares that the result in New York means best of all things that the Mugwump game of bluff is over, for it demonstrates the fact that the Democratic party is stronger without the aid of dependent support than with it, and was weaker by many thousands when Curtis & Co. voted with it than when they voted against it.

The Transcript (Mugwump) attributes Hill's success, which it deplors, to his hypocritical electioneering as the exponent of the administration, to the speeches of Foster and Logan, which alienated the independent voters, and to the Republican determination to allow a triumph for the Brooklyn ring rather than the election of a non-partisan ticket. This, with Foster's and Logan's war reminiscences, politically destroyed one of the most promising Republican candidates that could have been nominated in New York.

The Vice President's Views. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 5.—Vice President Hendricks was asked Wednesday: "What do you think of the New York election?" and replied: "It is a plain, straight Democratic victory."

"And as such," suggested the reporter, "does it mean an indorsement of the administration?"

"I had no thought about it in this respect," replied Mr. Hendricks, slowly, and after reflection he added: "I suppose it may be regarded in that light. Mr. Cleveland did what he could for the country, and I am sure that he was anxious for their success. It shows that the party he is on his feet, solidly in line, while the independent Republicans—mugwumps, I believe they are called—were to be counted out, out of joint, and out of the generally for they deserted their own organization thus early in the administration."

Mr. Aquila Jones, postmaster, sent the following dispatch to Governor Hill:

The Republican party of New York having honored me with a place in their platform, it seems proper that I should send you my hearty congratulations.

AGUILA JONES, Postmaster at Indianapolis.

Voices Tell What It Means. New York, Nov. 5.—The following telegram was sent Wednesday night:

New York, Nov. 4.—To the President: Please accept my cordial congratulations on the great Democratic victory of New York, Virginia and Maryland. They signify that the Democratic party can and does win the popular vote in the most important states without the aid of treacherous allies.

D. W. VOORHIES.

Congratulating the President. WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 5.—The president Wednesday received a great many telegrams from all parts of the country congratulating him on the result of the New York election. Many of them expressed in strong terms the opinion that the result of the election was a full indorsement of the president's policy.

Cleveland's Congratulations. ELmira, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Governor Hill has received the following:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—To the Hon. D. B. Hill, Elmira: I have just returned from Buffalo and learned the result when nearly home. I heartily congratulate you on your election.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

A Whisk at George William. ELmira, N. Y., Nov. 5.—In a speech to his fellow-townsmen Wednesday night, Governor Hill said:

Even those who differ from me in their views of national policy will pardon me for speaking proudly at this time a few words of congratulation to the Democratic party of the state and nation for the decisive victory which it has won. The victory means that the great Empire state of New York is a Democratic state under any and all circumstances; it means that the independent voters of that state are not controlled by self-interest or by the influence of newspapers; it means that the independent voters have abandoned the party of hypocrisy and sham, and have elected a permanent alliance with the Democratic party in the interest of reform and good government. It means that the people propose to sustain the honest, Democratic president, but not by putting his opponents in power. It means that the people are weary of the rule of the party that has made a party that seeks to obtain power by trying to keep alive the dying embers of civil war. It means that capital and labor shall receive equal protection under the law, and that the efforts of the workingmen of the state to better their condition shall be aided by the necessary legislation.

BELEAGUED RETURNS.

They but Confirm the Dispatches Already Printed.

New York, Nov. 5.—As revised returns of Tuesday's election are received the extent of the Democratic victory in this state is not diminished. Gov. Jones will not run more than 5,000 behind Governor Hill. The returns from the interior counties so far maintain the rates estimated and which would give Hill 60,000 plurality. In this county it is yet uncertain whether Keenan, county Democrat, or Flack, Tammany, elected county clerk. McAdam, Ellerbe and G. P. Harvey are elected judges of the circuit court. The two names named above, many more, the last named is a Republican.

In the state senate the Republicans will have twenty-one members and the Democrats eleven. The assembly stands: Republicans, seventy-three; Democrats, fifty-five.

The prohibition vote was comparatively heavy all over the state—somewhere in the neighborhood of 35,000.

Later from Iowa. Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 5.—Up to 10:30 p. m. The State Register has completed returns from thirty-one of the ninety counties in the state, and pretty definite returns from forty others, and partial from all. The returns cut the Republican majority on state ticket down to 9,000. Final returns may vary this 1,000 up or down. The Republican majority in the state on governor two years ago was but 1,092.

The Register has definite returns from every senatorial and representative district in the state. In the house the Republicans have 60 members, Fusionists 30, Independent Republicans 1, doubtful 1. The senate stands 31 Republicans and 19 Fusionists. Of the 34 counties not yet reported, these figures are more than one or two. Of the 34 counties elected this year the Republicans elect 15 senators and the Fusionists 9.

Midnight—Conservative computations on early county returns, in full, and careful estimates on the rest, give Lorrain 3,300 majority over Whiting. The opposition will have 42 to 44 members in the house and 20 or 21 votes in the senate.

The Result in Dakota. HONOLULU, D. T., Nov. 5.—Returns received here from nearly thirty counties indicate that Hiram will probably have 4,000 majority over Pierre. The Black Hills are estimated at 1,000 majority for Pierre. As Hiram has already over 5,000 more than Pierre, Hiram is confident that the temporary capital is in his hands. The conservative estimate on the rest, give Lorrain 3,300 majority over Whiting. The opposition will have 42 to 44 members in the house and 20 or 21 votes in the senate.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—Election news continues to come in favorable to the Democrats. Dispatches received here Wednesday night show that there will be in the house of delegates: sixty-eight Democrats and in the senate thirty, making a large Democratic majority on joint ballot. Lusk's majority for governor from latest returns will be from 15,000 to 20,000.

Quay's Plurality Climbing Up. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Official returns from twenty-five counties in this state and revised estimates from the remainder give Quay, for state treasurer, 37,001 plurality. Complete returns will probably increase this to 40,000.

There is no change to report in the result in Illinois. Maryland gives the Democracy 30,000 majority, with 103 votes to spare on joint ballot in the legislature.

Colorado elects the Republican state ticket by about 5,000 majority. Denver went Democratic.

The Republican ticket in Nebraska is successful by between 12,000 to 15,000 majority. The prohibition vote is more than double that for the state ticket.

Kansas reports the usual Republican majority.

The Stockholders Ratify. ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company held at the office of the company in this city, the president submitted the action of the board of directors in relation to the West Shore Railway company, including the question of raising and endorsing and authorizing the guarantee of $30,000,000 first mortgage bonds. The proposed action of the board was ratified and confirmed, and the execution of the guarantee was authorized, the vote in favor exceeding two-thirds of its capital stock.

Sinned and Sinned. BEVERLY, Mass., Nov. 5.—Charles H. Lane, a milk dealer, raised a clock from $250 to $300 and got it crushed. He was arrested Wednesday, confessed his guilt, and paid $25 of the money and said he would go up stairs and get the rest. A few minutes later he was found dead in his room, with his head nearly severed from his body. The razor with which he committed suicide lay by his side. Lane was a man of good family, and had been respected in the community.

Dividing the Profits. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—An adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Central Transportation company was held here Wednesday. Fifty stockholders were present. After reducing the par value of the stock to $25, and determining to divide the surplus among the stockholders, a resolution was adopted to take steps for the collection of $1,538,044 due from the Pullman Car company, this also when obtained to be divided.

New Republican Journal in Cincinnati. CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—It is currently reported in journalistic circles of this city that the Daily Sun has been sold for $25,000 to a syndicate, and will hereafter be a straight-out Republican sheet. It is currently reported that George Parkins will be the managing editor, and Albee Sands, Jr., city editor.

Latest from Theobald the Thug. LONDON, Nov. 5.—Dispatches received Wednesday night state that it is reported at Theobald that King Theobald has detained the regular passenger steamer from Monday at the latter place. If this report is true it is a distinct indication of the beginning of hostilities.
